

Judd Chapman, AIA

Judd is a registered architect with more than 18 years of experience in architectural projects in New York City, including museums, public parks, workforce housing, corporate interiors, and condominium conversions with budgets up to $60 million.

Judd has a history of performing the duties required to take a client's ideas and design concepts and completing a project in a timely and cost-efficient manner. He has an exceptional client satisfaction record spanning the length of his career. His strength lies in being able to ensure that the client's design considerations are met while verifying that construction documents are being executed properly with applicable codes being followed.
